Tear Down the Flaunting Lie. Wm. Oland Benrue, editor of the Soldies Friend, of N. Y. city, is out denying that either Gen. Halpine (Miles O'Riely) or a certain Englishman, wrote the "Flaunting Lie," and claiming for himself the authorship of that poem, which he says was a much longer one than the stansas given below. It is claimed by the Abolitionists of the 5th decade of the present century, and by the Demograts of the present. It has the ring of pairiotic genius, and it is now decidedly in point. Here it is:

All hall the flaunting lie! The stars grow pale and dim;
The stripes are bloody scars—
A lie, the vaunting hymn! It shields a pirate's deck, It binds a man in chalas, It yokes the captive's neck,
And wipes the bloody stains.

Tear down the flaunting lie-Half mast the starry flag! Insult no sunny sky
With Hate's polluted rag.
Destroy it, ye who can,
Deep sink it in the waves;

It bears a fellow man To grown with fellow slaves! Enfurl the boasted lie Till Freedom lives again. To rule once more in truth Among untrammelled men!

Roll up the starry shoen. Conceal its bloray stains, The stamp of rusting chains !

> [COMMUNICATED.] UNION DEPOT, E. Tenn. Oct. 21st, 1869.

EDITORS BRISTOL NEWS-Dear Size:—On yesterday we were favored, at this place, with a very able speech from our distinguished fellow-citizen Col. A. A. Kyle, of Rogersville, E. Tenn., upon the great political issues that so constantly agitate the public mind at the present day. Col. Kyle is one of the champions of conservatism, and is one of the Democratic Electors for the Sease upon the Seymonr and Blair ticket. We will not attempt to give you his speech in detail, but merely his leading points, constituting the points at issue between the two great political parties of the nation. Coi. Kyle took the ground that the Radical party had proved false to every position they had taken, before due-ing and since the war, that they had de-ceived the public mind as to the true ab-jects for which the war was presecuted.— He was one of those unswerving constituend of the war, and when the question of emancipation came up he chose to quietly part with his negroes than to sever his con-nection with, what was then, a great and good government. But he took the ground that no government had any right to take from him, or any other man, their negroes without compensation. He took the ground that the Radical party had wandered from the home of truth and duty, and that they have done all to secure party ends and pur-

He said, "The Congress of the United States had no right to go into any of the states and there interfere with the elective franchise. That this Radical party had no ight by any third of legislation to take the ballot from the respectable white man and give it to the ignorant negroes, in order to secure party ends. But that this was the only way that they could continue to pow-That they was afraid to let the white man to the ballot box, for fear they would want a division of the offices."

He said that the leading men of the Radical party were in favor of giving the ballot to every man (white.) He then gave his course through the war, and expressed seautifully his sympathy with the negro, them, and believed they ought, of right, to have guaranteed to them protection under the laws of our country, but that he was opposed to giving him the ballet. He areronsiy with the negro, and inquired "if say man had ever heard of the Radical party inviting the negro to share the offices with them f"

He says, "none of the states ever were ont of the union," and establishes that position by two court decisions. One of the Supreme Court of Tenuessee, 3d Caldwell's Reports and another, the holding of Chief Justice Chase in the United States Court in North Carolina. That all the Radical plan of reconstruction was unconstitutional, casting the people of the United States alcare themselves to office.

He says he is decidedly in favor of the coormons public debt being paid in green-backs. That the 5-20s constitute the targest portion of the debt, and that the money: nothing but greenbacks, and was at the the same money now, enhanced in value, ought to per the debt. He spoke freely of the recent electrons that have come off in the States of Ohlo, Indiana and Pennayiva-nia and takes the ground that the Democ. racy have much to enquurage them, having reduced the Kadiosi marjority of last year duties as presiding officer of the body we have endeavored to sketch, comparatively to advance the prosperity and welfare of the sketch, comparatively the city.

The city and this year. He spoke in hopeful autic-sand this year. ipations of a bright and glorious future for the American people when we shall have been delivered from the tyrathy of our pres-ent rulers which he felt certain would be accomplished, sooner or later, by the constrained efforts of that portion of our people who love freedom of thought, speech and section. Maj. Petitione was to have met Col. Kyle here and we are sorry that, he did not. But we really do not blame him to shun a fair exposition of the aims of the Radical party when it is convenient

Success to you Col., and may you never tire in the great work in which you are engagod. A DEMOCRAT.

RAILBOAD PRESIDENT AD INTERIM .- At a. There are more papers published in San East Tenn. & Va. R. R., at Knoxville, on ton 17th test, we learn that P. Dickinson, Esq., of the city of Knexville, was appointed President, pro tem., to fill the piace of Col. John R. Branner, who is unable to attend to business, having been severely at-tacked with apoplexy. Mr. Dickimon is a warm filend of the road, and a good business man. We regard the election as one of the very best that could have been made. We venture the assert a that no Road in the South has been a stortunate in securing
